

After Death: Family and Carer Needs

Healthcare providers should continue to provide care in the period immediately after a person's death. This may include emotional support for the family, assistance with cultural and practical tasks, verification of death, and completion of other legal requirements.

As a Health Care provider how are you supporting family and Carers with?

